After the guests have reassembled in the pariors they will be escorted to the Executive Mansion, where an address of welcome to the State of Virginia will be delivered by his Excellency Governor F. W. M. Holliday. The visitors will then be conducted through the Capitol and the adjacent grounds, after which they will return to their hotels.

During the afternoon they will, by their own arrangement, visit in carriages some of the historic points of interest below Richmond. Returning to the city, they will make such disposition of their time as may be most agreeable. Some will probably attend the opera of "Cinderella" at the Theatte, and others will revisit the Commercial Club rooms, the privileges of which have been politely tendered to the visitors daring their stay in Richmond by Claiborne Walkins, Esq., president, and his colleagues

Walkins, E.q., president, and his colleagues of the Board of Managers.

Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock the visitors will curbark on a special train contteously provided for their accommodation by Colonel H. T. Douglas, superinten-dent of the Richmond, York River and Chesapeake Railroad company, and visit West Point. On the route they will pass
